

a charity dedicated to improving lives affected by eosinophilic disorders

Web: www.ausee.org
Email: admin@ausee.org

MEDIA RELEASE

21 May, 2012

A Mother's Wish – a cure for EGIDs

Sunshine Coast resident, Sarah Gray is hoping to raise funds for medical research into eosinophilic gastrointestinal disorders (EGIDs) by entering the Sunsuper Dreams for a better world competition.

The competition calls upon members of the community to share their dreams for a better world for the chance to win a $5000 grant to help make that dream come true. Sunsuper gives away a $5000 grant every month, and Sarah Gray is looking for community support to help make her dream a winner.

"I share my dream for research into a cure for EGIDs with all Mother's in Australia who are caring for children living with an eosinophilic disorder."

"My beautiful daughter Bella was diagnosed with an EGID (eosinophilic oesophagitis) when she was just 18 months old. She turns 9 this year and each passing year brings with it new struggles and challenges as living with an EGID is life altering in so many ways."

"As the month of May is an extra special month for us Mum's, it would make my Mother's day, and every day, if I can just help give my daughter, and other kids like her, the best future possible" said Sarah Gray.

To vote for Sarah Gray's dream, visit <http://sunsuperdreams.com.au/dream/view/a-mother-s-wish-a-cure-for-egids>

Media enquiries to Sarah Gray: sarah.gray@ausee.org