

Share your experience with EGE, EG and EC and help define the treatment goal in clinical trials for new medicines

Background

- IQVIA is a global research firm commissioned to conduct telephone interviews with participants who have been diagnosed with Eosinophilic Gastroenteritis (EGE), Eosinophilic Gastritis (EG) and Eosinophilic Colitis (EC).
- This is not a clinical trial; you will not be asked to purchase or take any medication.

Purpose

- This research is being conducted on behalf of a pharmaceutical company. It will focus on the symptoms you experience, how they impact your daily life and how they make you feel, and which aspects of EGE, EG and EC would be most meaningful to treat.
- This research may help improve how symptoms are measured in clinical trials.

Getting Involved

- If you would like to participate, you will need to authorize your healthcare provider to share some of your health information with IQVIA. This will be a one-time request to confirm your diagnosis of EGE, EG or EC.
- We are looking for participants 12 years and above who have received treatment for EGE, EG or EC but who still experience troublesome symptoms.
- If you qualify through a brief online questionnaire, you will be invited to participate in a 60-90-minute telephone discussion with one of IQVIA's healthcare researchers.
- You do not need to do anything to prepare other than be ready to talk about your experience living with EGE, EG or EC.
- You can withdraw from the study at any time.
- Qualified participants will be compensated for participating in a 60-90 minute telephone interview.

Next Steps

- To participate, please go to this survey link, email anne.bouchartdorval@iqvia.com or call (+61) 0450 915 587 to get more information about our study.
- If you are eligible, you may be called to obtain your consent to participate, to see if you meet all requirements, and to schedule your interview.